Session 3:

Express to Impress

Speaking Naturally.

Acting Confidently.

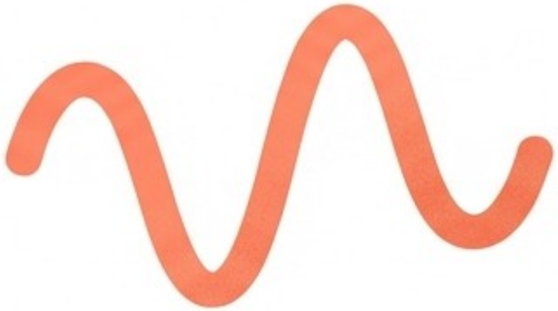

What You Will Master Today

Formal presentations are rare; informal communication happens every day. Today, we bridge the gap between thinking and speaking, turning social anxiety into professional ease.

Comfort

Breaking down the barriers of ‘perfect’ speech to find your natural voice.

Flow

Mastering the rhythm of small talk and social pleasantries.

Confidence

Gaining the ability to speak impromptu, without a script or rehearsal.

The Session Roadmap

10:00 – 12:00

Track 1: The Social Challenge

Role Plays: Group Dynamics & Interaction

12:00 – 14:00

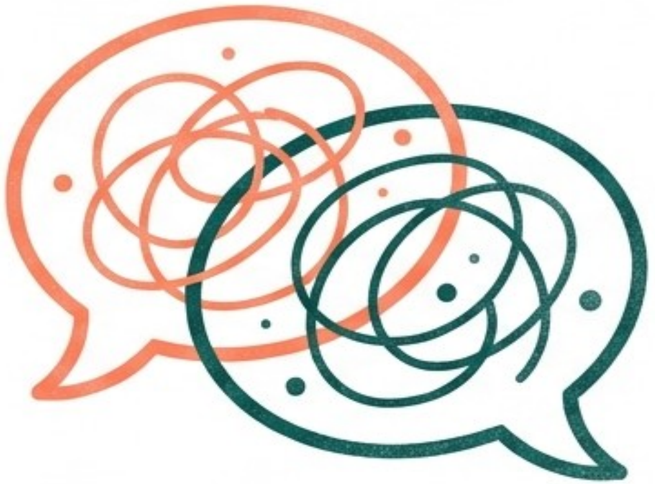

Track 2: The Mental Challenge

JAM (Just A Minute): Solo Mental Agility & Spontaneity

ACTIVITY 1: ROLE PLAYS

The Art of Informal Talk

Real > Perfect

- The goal of this session is not to deliver a flawless script. The goal is to replicate the unpredictability of real life.
- Focus on informal and real-life conversations.
- Prioritize natural reactions over rehearsed lines. Listen to respond, not just to speak.

Setting the Stage

01

Form Groups

Divide into teams of 2–4 participants.

02

Assign Roles

Each person takes a specific persona within a scenario. Commit to the character.

03

The Objective

Interact naturally based on your role. There is no winner; success is defined by active participation and interaction.

Real World Contexts

Choose your scenario. Where will you practice your flow?

The Casual Meetup

Running into an old friend at a busy coffee shop. Catching up in a limited time.

The Workplace Intro

Your first day at a new internship. Introducing yourself to the team during a lunch break.

Peer Resolution

Discussing a minor misunderstanding about a project deadline with a classmate.

The Networking Event

Making small talk with a stranger at a professional mixer while holding a plate of food.

Performance Structure

Phase 1: Preparation

10–15 Minutes

Discuss the scenario, assign roles, and agree on the general direction. Do not write a script.

Phase 2: Performance

3–5 Minutes

Act it out. Focus on tone, body language, and conversational flow.

Phase 3: Feedback

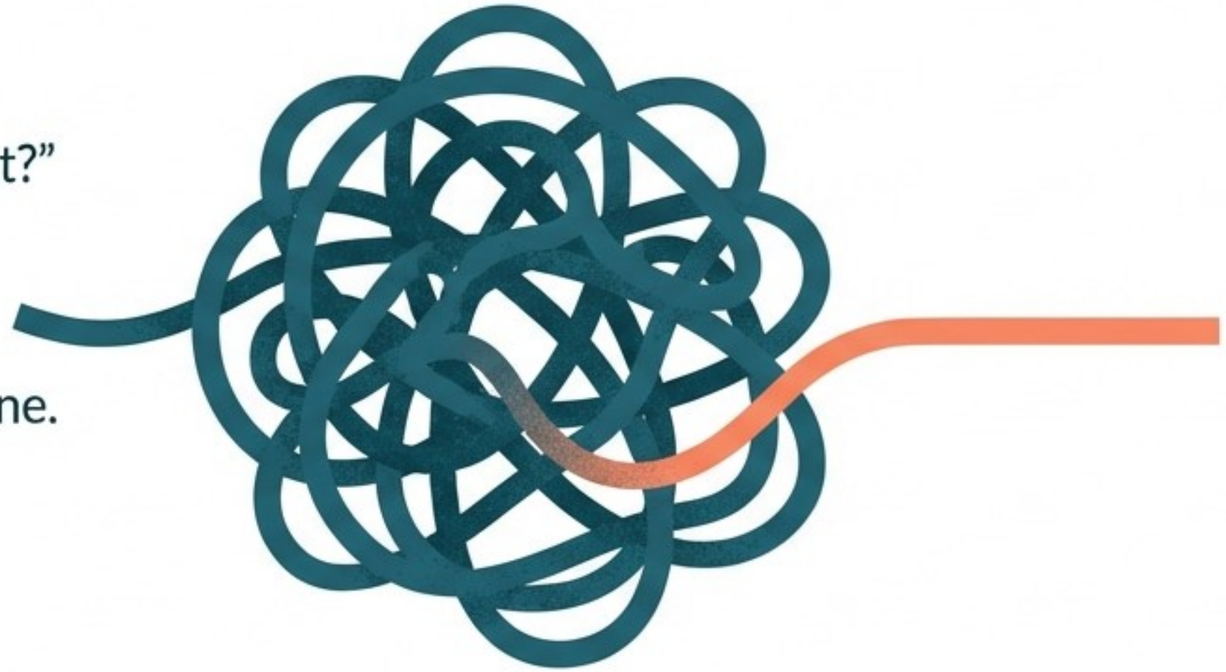

Post-Activity

Brief review of what felt natural and what felt forced.

Role Play Outcomes

You are now better at reading the room.

- Reduced Hesitation
  Taking the fear out of “What do I say next?”
- Physical Fluency
  Matching your body language to your tone.
- Spontaneous Confidence
  Trusting your ability to handle unscripted moments.

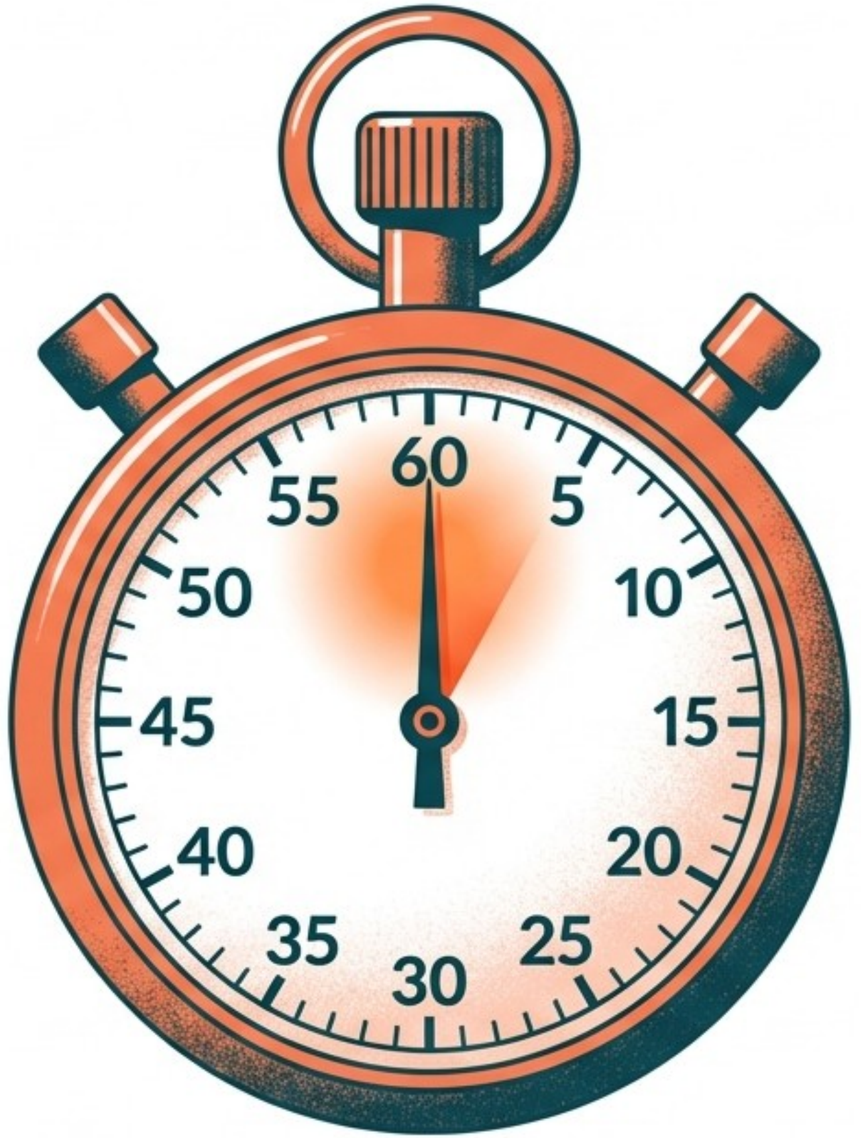

ACTIVITY 2: JUST A MINUTE (JAM)

Thinking on Your Feet

Definition:* JAM is a solo challenge. You have 60 seconds to speak on a topic given to you on the spot.

The Challenge:

- No script.
- No long prep.
- Pure mental agility.

The Technique: Mind Mapping

How to structure a 1-minute speech instantly.

Instruction: When given a topic, visualize this map. Spend your prep time filling these three branches, not writing sentences.

JAM Outcomes

Clarity under pressure.

Impromptu Speaking

The ability to articulate thoughts without warning.

Cognitive Agility

Developing ‘clarity of thought’ even when the clock is ticking.

Pressure Management

Converting nervousness into focused energy.

IMARTICUS LEARNING

JAM - JUST A MINUTE

- Have a positive Attitude.
- Use Simple English – Construct simple sentences with simple vocabulary.
- Make short sentences.
- Use proper & correct grammar.
- Speak in a clear and Audible voice.
- Use 'KISS' Principle. Means Keep It Short Simple formula.

IMARTICUS LEARNING

Why Mondays should be banned

IMARTICUS LEARNING

IMARTICUS LEARNING

Some of the bad decisions are necessary so you can have great stories to tell.

IMARTICUS LEARNING

Why I support LGBT?

Key Takeaways

Confidence is a muscle. It grows through action, not theory.

PRACTICE

Informal speaking is not a talent; it is a skill that improves with repetition.

ACTION

Confidence is the result of doing. The more you 'act it loud,' the quieter your fear becomes.

CLARITY

Thinking clearly leads to speaking better. Use structures like Mind Maps to organize your chaos.
